About Myself

I am greatly influenced by virtues such as honesty, humility, and a calm demeanor. I enjoy engaging in meaningful activities such as studying Islam, exploring science, and honing my design skills, and I particularly enjoy spending time with my family. Guided by trust, integrity, and strong moral principles, I strive to live a simple life, remain truthful, and let these values be reflected in my daily actions.

I hope to find a partner who values simplicity, faith, and lifelong learning — someone who finds peace in both devotion and understanding.

I believe in the beautiful balance between Deen and Duniya – for a true believer, every aspect of life is an act of faith, and nothing that befalls them is ever in vain, for all is written within Allah's perfect plan.

My Hobbies

Learning is something I truly enjoy. Whenever I have free time, I study about the following subjects –

- Religion • Cosmology • Psychology • Philosophy • Quantum Physics • Consciousness Science

I find these subjects incredibly fascinating, especially as they explore how the universe works and the fundamental ideas behind it. My curiosity drives me to seek out new information constantly, and I never get tired of learning. Everything related to creation and creativity inspires me, encouraging me to continue expanding my knowledge in these areas and helps me recognize the signs of my Creator.

Our Expectation

We hope she has read the entire Holy Qur'an along with its divine meanings; if not, she will, Insha'Allah.

- She follows religious guidelines and solutions from the Qur'an and authentic Hadiths.
- She should perform the daily prayers and strive to maintain non-mahram boundaries, Insha'Allah.

Above all, we pray for a partner who values understanding, kindness, and growing in faith, Insha'Allah.
